McCarthy Given Right To Examine Witnesses

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said today he would not object to discarding some accusations against Sen. McCarthy so long as the Senate gets a chance to vote on whether the Wisconsin Republican has shown "disregard for the whole orderly conduct of government."

Martin Seeks Renomination

LANSING (AP)—Aud. Gen. John B. Martin of Grand Rapids announced today that he would seek renomination to his present state post at the Republican State Convention Aug. 21.

Thus Martin put to rest reports that he would make a bid to shift to the secretary of state race. Martin said, "The main job ahead is the election of a Republican governor of Michigan to work with the Republican Legislature for the good of the whole state."

"With this object in mind I shall ask the delegates in the coming state Republican convention for renomination as auditor general. It is my hope that this will contribute both to party unity and to the election of Don Leonard as governor."

Martin said that during his administration as auditor general great strides had been made in improving financial practices and that his auditors had done "outstanding work" in uncovering fraud and corruption in state agencies. "The public may be sure," Martin said, "that in the future, as in the past, I will continue to dig out the truth about corruption, regardless of persons or politics."

Dentist Escapes Injury As His Auto Blows Up

CHICAGO (AP)—A dentist's automobile was blown up Monday night as he and a patient approached it, police said, and a short time later the dentist's wife received an anonymous telephone call that "the doctor isn't going to come home tonight."

Dr. Romeo A. Pallotto, 35, and the patient, Benny Wasielewski, 32, were not injured by the explosion which occurred, they told police, when they were about 75 yards from the car, parked in an alley near the dentist's office. Police attributed the blast to a bomb placed under the car.

The dentist's wife, Eleanor, reported she received an anonymous telephone call shortly after her husband telephoned from the police station that he was not injured. The anonymous caller, a man, told her, "The doctor isn't going to be home tonight."

Dr. Pallotto said he was puzzled about the motive behind the bombing.

Illinois Central Will Lay Off 375

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—One of the most drastic cutbacks in employment since the depression at the local Illinois Central Railroad shops will become effective Friday. Sup. C. T. Eaker announced that 375 employees will be laid off, leaving just 285 men to run the shops. At peak employment during World War II, they employed 1,250.

Eaker said the layoffs, for an indefinite period, were caused by a general decline in business throughout the I. C. system. He said the railroad hopes they will be temporary in nature.

Administration Wins Tests On Flexible Price Support

Three States Hold Primary Voting Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A complicated series of primary contests in Nebraska—one a Senate race pitting Republican Gov. Robert B. Crosby against six opponents—tops party balloting in three states today.

Also on the slate are an Idaho primary, an Arkansas runoff and a Democratic convention in Delaware. These will determine:

1. Whether Idaho's "singing cowboy," former Sen. Glen Taylor, can resume a political career that faltered after he bolted the Democratic party in 1948 to run for vice president on the Progressive ticket.

Contest in Darkness
2. Whether Arkansas Gov. Francis Cherry can win a second term in a Democratic runoff.

3. Whether Democratic Sen. J. Allen Frear Jr. of Delaware can win renomination over the opposition of some party leaders who contend he's too "conservative."

Though each state has only two Senators, Nebraska will name candidates for three Senate seats—a rare circumstance caused by the deaths earlier this year of GOP Senators Dwight Griswold and Hugh Butler.

Understand? Yes Appreciate? No

DETROIT (AP)—Frank Serafinski pleaded guilty to drunk driving in Detroit Traffic Court and was asked by a prosecutor: "You appreciate that by pleading guilty you may go to jail and lose your driving privileges?" I understand what you mean," came the reply, "but don't think for a minute that I appreciate it."

Serafinski was sentenced to two days in jail and fined $75.

Work Begun On Power Project

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey hailed the St. Lawrence power project as a great example of international cooperation today at the start of work on the 600-million-dollar hydroelectric plant.

There is no likelihood that its vast dams, linking the United States and Canada, will be outmoded by atomic power plants for 30 years or more, he said in a speech prepared for the project's ground-breaking ceremonies.

The governor spoke after a parade from flag-draped Massena to an oat field at Polley's Bay five miles outside the village where he set off a blast of dynamite signaling the start of construction. The job, undertaken by the New York State Power Authority and its Canadian counterpart, the Ontario Hydroelectric Commission, is to be completed within five years.

Chairmen of the two power agencies took part with Dewey in the Massena ceremonies, along with other officials.

The party crossed the river, one of the world's largest and fastest bodies of inland water, to join Canada Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent in similar ceremonies at Cornwall, Ont.

The power project will be closely coordinated with a proposed St. Lawrence Seaway project to link the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean.

'Pray For Peace' Message Favored

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House committee Monday approved a resolution introduced by Rep. Rabaut (D-Mich.) to provide for the words "pray for peace" across postage stamps canceled by the post office. The House Post Office Committee voted to send the bill to the floor.

A measure to provide $175 million a year on a matching basis to eliminate railway-highway crossings in cities was introduced by Rep. Oakman (R-Mich.). His proposal provides the state give 40 per cent as its share and the federal government 60 per cent.

Funds Needed For Polio Care

LANSING (AP)—Michigan has been asked to raise an additional $750,000 in an emergency March of Dimes campaign between Aug. 16 and Aug. 31.

The goal was announced by Paul D. Bagwell of East Lansing, state chairman of the campaign.

Bagwell said the last March of Dimes campaign fell 20 million dollars short of its national goal, that costs have been heavy for the development of a new vaccine and distribution of gamma globulin, and that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is aiding 67,000 victims of polio in previous years.

Some Michigan communities will conduct full-fledged campaigns, including the traditional "mothers march on polio" and other types of house-to-house solicitation. Most, however, will rely on special programs, coin collections and mail campaigns.

Bagwell announced an additional $12,200 in emergency aid was being released to three additional chapters which have run out of polio care funds.

The allocations: Kent County, $5,000; Lapeer County, $3,000 and Saginaw County, $4,200.

Bagwell said 40 Michigan chapters have received $567,260 in emergency care funds so far this year.

"TERRIBLE TOUHY" RELEASED—Roger "The Terrible" Touhy, right, prohibition era gangster, smiles happily after federal judge John P. Barnes ordered him released on bond and said he believed Touhy was wrongfully convicted of kidnapping John "Jake the Barber" Factor in 1932. Judge Barnes, in his court at Chicago, vacated Touhy's 99-year sentence for kidnapping. With Touhy is U. S. Marshal Al Wohlers.

No Revenge In Mind, Says Terrible Touhy

CHICAGO (AP)—"I'm just looking for peace of mind. . . . No, I'm not thinking of revenge. . . . When you've been in the penitentiary for as long as I have, you forget about revenge."

These were some of the comments Monday of Roger (The Terrible) Touhy, one of the nation's top gang leaders in the Prohibition era, who had just won his freedom from prison.

The 55-year old gray-haired Touhy, one-time arch foe of the late Al Capone, had served more than 20 years in Stateville Prison for a kidnapping which Federal Judge John P. Barnes termed a hoax.

Sentenced In 1934

Touhy was sentenced in 1934 to 99 years in prison for the kidnapping in 1933 of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, once internationally known confidence man. He received an additional 199 years for his part in his escape from prison with five other convicts in 1942.

But Judge Barnes ruled that Touhy had no part in the "alleged" kidnapping which he said was a hoax engineered by Factor to forestall his extradition to England to face prosecution for a confidence game charge.

Factor, starting in 1942, served six years of a 10-year federal sentence for a million dollar whisky warehouse receipts fraud.

Perjured Testimony

Judge Barnes, in granting Touhy

a writ of habeas corpus, said the one-time beer baron's conviction was procured by perjured testimony. He said Circuit Judge Thomas A. Courtney, who was state's attorney at the time of Touhy's kidnapping trial, "Must be held responsible for the actions of chief investigator Daniel A. Gilbert in causing perjured testimony to be presented to the jury that convicted Roger Touhy."

Touhy's lawyers contended that Al Capone's old crime syndicate got Factor to frame Touhy so Capone could seize various labor unions then dominated by Touhy.

The lawyers, in their original writ filed in 1948, charged Touhy's conviction resulted from a conspiracy between Factor and law enforcement officials.

Sentence Termined Void

Judge Barnes ruled that the state statute under which Touhy was sentenced to 199 years in the prison break is unconstitutional and his sentence therefore void.

Touhy, tears in his eyes, told reporters he plans to leave Chicago and start a business turning out a fishing tackle on which he said he has applied for a patent.

He said he holds no grudge against anyone for his long confinement.

"They have their consciences to live with," he said.

Touhy left the courtroom after his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Alesia, posted $10,000 bond to guarantee his appearance in event of a government appeal. Atty. General Latham Castle ordered an immediate appeal to the United States Court of Appeals.

Touhy said he was eager to see his wife and two sons. He declined to say where his family lived.

House Approves 7% Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield says the House has failed to provide any way of meeting the 200 million dollar a year cost of a new 7 per cent postal workers' salary boost it voted Monday.

Summerfield renewed his attack on the postal pay bill Monday after the House had overridden administration objections and passed the measure out of the Rules Committee and had passed it by an overwhelming 351-29 rollcall tally.

The postmaster general obviously was pinning his hopes on the Senate where there are indications the measure may be changed to trim the pay boost to 5 per cent and to blanket in civil service workers as well. The house bill would benefit half a million post office employees.

Summerfield has held that the postal pay raise should be limited to no more than 5 per cent and should be hooked to an increase in postal revenue, but the house has already voted down a mail rate increase.

Farm Program May Get Final Approval Today

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Eisenhower administration lieutenants claimed victories on the two major price support issues and pushed for final Senate action today on a controversial new farm bill.

"We're off to a good start," said Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, referring to these Senate decisions during a session of more than 10 hours Monday:

1. A 49-44 vote in favor of flexible farm price supports between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity on cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts for next year. This is the same compromise voted by the house in what President Eisenhower termed a satisfactory victory. The President had recommended originally flexible supports ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity, a legal standard said to give a farm product a fair price in relation to growers costs.

Dairy Prop At 75 %

2. A 49-43 vote that would give Secretary of Agriculture Benson authority to continue price supports on such dairy products as butter and cheese at the reduced level of 75 per cent of parity. This was below the 80 per cent level effective Sept. 1, voted by the House and the 85 per cent recommended 8-7 by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"The dairy provision should be pleasing to President Eisenhower," Aiken said in an interview. "He had expressed very strong

Trouble Looms On Plane Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force may run into trouble getting the necessary finances to buy up land if it decides to go ahead with plans to build a jet plane base near the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich.

Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) told reporters Monday that the House Armed Services Committee must approve the purchase of any parcel of land at the proposed base costing in excess of $25,000. Shafer is a member of the committee.

Shift In Wisconsin

He said such approval might not be given if the Air Force ignores the committee's own recommendation on the site.

However, the Air Force countered that it might shift the base to Wisconsin if the "squabbling" continues over its location in Michigan.

Shafer was chairman of a committee which examined the Homestead township site near Traverse City selected by Air Force engineers.

Hinder Concerts

This committee filed a report in which it said that jet operations would be going on only eight miles from the music camp and would hinder broadcasts, concerts and recording session at the institution headed by Dr. Joseph E. Maddy.

Concluded that the "base should not be located within 15 miles of the National Music Camp."

Shafer's group said sites at Kal-kaska and Cadillac in the same general area would serve the same purpose as the Benzie County location.

Cab Hits Parked Car; Passenger Is Injured

Miss Ellen Ohlsen of 1015 8th Ave. S. suffered slight facial injuries at 11:39 p. m. last night when an Escanaba Taxi company cab struck a parked car in the 1200 block, 5th Ave. S., according to Escanaba police.

Arthur DeMars, 61, of 200 N. 10th St., driver of the taxi, told police that he blacked out just before the accident. The cab was traveling east and struck a parked auto owned by Earl J. Wuellner 1221 5th Ave. S.

Another cab was summoned by DeMars and Miss Ohlsen was taken to St. Francis Hospital for treatment. Police issued no tickets pending further investigation.

WMBV Begins Test Pattern

Northeastern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan's new NBC television station, WMBV-TV, began regular test pattern broadcasts on Channel 11 Monday, Aug. 9.

The test pattern will be broadcast daily, Monday through Saturday, from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 4 p. m. This will enable television servicemen to properly align new sets and antennas to receive this new Channel 11 station to best advantage.

Initial equipment tests by WMBV-TV have brought reports of excellent picture reception from viewers over 140 miles away, Milwaukee and Ripon, Wisconsin, Escanaba and Manistique, Michigan are among the towns heard from.

WMBV-TV will begin its regular broadcasting of NBC and regional programs on September 11. J. D. Mackin, general manager, reports that WMBV will be the only television station to broadcast the World Series in Upper Michigan, Green Bay-land, and the Fox River Valley. The station also will be the only one in the area to carry the most popular NBC telecasts such as Dragnet, Groucho Marx, TV Playhouse, Milton Berle, and others.

WMBV engineers estimate that most existing antenna installations in the station's primary coverage area will be able to receive Channel 11 well without changes or extra equipment. When regular Channel 11 test patterns are broadcast, they recommend that set owners contact their local television dealers for whatever minor adjustments may be necessary or for advice on how to overcome local interference problems.

Lightning Interrupts Local Power Service

Escanaba's supply of electric power from the Upper Michigan Power and Light Company was interrupted for 20 minutes Monday afternoon during a lightning storm in this area.

A bolt of lightning tripped one of the steam turbines at the power plant and created the interruption.

Harvey Germanson, superintendent of the city's electric distribution utility, said that because the city is buying power on a demand charge, and because of abnormal increased demand when the interruption ended, the 20-minute interruption cost the city $180 in additional charge.

Rotary's Work Here And Around World Reviewed

Rotary's program of service to the communities in which Rotary Clubs are located, and to the promotion of international understanding, goodwill and peace around the world was reviewed Monday by the Escanaba Rotary Club in connection with the official visit of Rotary District Governor Thomas P. Beaton.

Beaton, governor of the Rotary district 208 comprising 49 clubs in the Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin, spoke to the Escanaba Rotary Club at its noon meeting at the Delta Hotel and in the evening to a club assembly.

Denis McGinn, president of the Escanaba Rotary Club, introduced the district governor at the noon meeting and presided at the evening session attended by officers and committee chairmen.

Service To Community
The Escanaba Rotary Club's contributions to the community were reviewed at the evening meeting in a discussion of activities for the ensuing year.

Sponsorship of Rotary Camp Harsted for crippled and handicapped children, assistance to the Boy Scout program, annual co-operative programs to encourage agriculture, industry and business, and the annual Honor Day program in recognition of outstanding high school seniors and their parents were cited as contributions to community service.

District Governor Beaton emphasized that Rotary's role in community programs is to cooperate and assist worthwhile projects, and to encourage its members to take active leadership in community affairs.

Rotary World-Wide
There are Rotary Clubs in 89 countries and geographical regions throughout the world dedicated to the promotion of international understanding, goodwill and peace, Beaton said.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 8,300 clubs within their own communities to promote this objective, Beaton explained, Rotary International maintains a program of student fellowships. Since 1947, when this program was established, 606 Rotary Fellowships have been awarded students in 57 countries at a cost of more than $1,500,000.

The Escanaba Rotary Club is now host to a Paris Chamber of Commerce scholarship student, Pierre Brohan, 22, who is spending the summer here. His principal interest is in the paper making industry, in observing life in this country to gain better understanding of Americans.

Common Ground
Thursday this week he will visit the Ishpeming area and speak to the Ishpeming Rotary Club. Monday Brohan spoke to the Gladstone Rotary Club.

"With fellowship and service to others as its keynote, Rotary provides a common ground for 389,000 business and professional executives throughout the world, regardless of differing nationalities, of political or religious beliefs," the Rotary district governor emphasized.

A member of the Gladstone Rotary Club for the past 18 years, Beaton is a past president of that club and has been active in Rotary in many capacities.

He is one of 220 district governors in a world-wide service organization that continues to grow in numbers and strength. During the past fiscal year, 448 new Rotary Clubs were organized in 51 countries of the world.

Limits For Duck Season Are Oct. 1 To Jan. 10

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1954-55 seasons for hunting wild ducks and geese will be as long or longer than those allowed last year except in states which permit hunting as late as next Jan. 20.

Undersecretary of the Interior Ralph A. Tudor made public Monday night the basic regulations to govern taking of migratory waterfowl during the 1954-55 season.

He announced that the basic hunting season for ducks, geese and coots will extend from Oct. 1 to Jan. 10, with state game administrators permitted to fix the seasons for their states within that framework. Specific dates and hours will be announced sometime after Aug. 25 following action by state administrators.

Different Seasons
States will be allowed to have seasons running for a consecutive number of days, or two split seasons totalling somewhat less than is permissible for a straight-days season. Those desiring to do so may extend the season as late as Jan. 20 by giving up two days of allowable hunting for each day of extension, but this is permissible only when a consecutive-days season is chosen. The season will end Jan. 10 for all states choosing split seasons.

States also are given a new option of selecting shooting hours. They may extend from one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset, or until sunset. Hunting of woodcock and jacksnipe, however, will be allowed until sunset in the seasons specified for taking them.

Begin At Noon
On the opening day of each season, including each half of a split season, hunting will begin at noon. The Mississippi flyway, which includes Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio and Wisconsin, will have the same length of season as last year—35 consecutive days.

Wildcat Bounty To Take Effect Aug. 12

The State of Michigan will begin paying a $5 bounty on wildcats, regardless of sex, beginning Aug. 12, according to the Michigan Department of Conservation.

The Conservation Department also announced that the season on woodchucks in the Upper Peninsula has been established from Oct. 1 to March 1, inclusive. Land owners may kill woodchucks as predators at any time, provided the animals are damaging property.

U. P. Power Co. To Submit Offer Today

The Upper Peninsula Power Company, Houghton, tonight will submit its proposed solution to Escanaba's power shortage problem in an offer to be made to the City Council at a special informal meeting to be held at 7:30 tonight.

City officials said they have not been informed who will be in Escanaba tonight to represent the U. P. Power Company. John H. Warden, Houghton, is president of the Power Company and has previously conferred here with city officials in connection with the power shortage solution.

Representatives of the U. P. Power Company have conducted a study of the local electric problem, assembling information on which to base the report to be presented tonight.

The meeting tonight was called by Mayor Harlan Yelland when he was advised that the Power Company's report was ready to submit to the Council.

U. S. And England United, Says Head Of Anglican Church

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England, said here Sunday that Britain and the United States are united as a free people "to defend freedom in a sorely distressed world."

"We trust each other," the Most Rev. Geoffrey F. Fisher added. "We stand for the same great facts of human society, in which men can live in freedom. We passionately believe in Democracy."

The archbishop and other dignitaries of the Anglican church were here from throughout the world for the Anglican Congress. Formal sessions Sunday were brief but many of the 600 delegates were guest speakers at churches in the Twin Cities and other Minnesota communities.

Dr. Fisher, preaching to about 1,100 persons at the Cathedral Church of St. Mark here, said democracy rests on a fundamental piece of realism that works, "more or less."

Rock Youth Has Narrow Escape From Serious Injury

ROCK — Ronnie Koski, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eino Koski of Rock narrowly escaped injury or death Saturday afternoon, when the tractor he was driving tipped backward as he started up a river bank after crossing a creek in sight of the farm home.

When the tractor upended, Ronnie jumped off and was very lucky in jumping clear of the falling tractor for it immediately caught fire and burned. The Rock Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene, but the tractor could not be saved.

Ronnie had been cutting and skidding pulp in his father's woods to make spending money and was returning home for dinner when the accident occurred.

Summer Festival

The Summer Festival sponsored by the Rock Co-operative Company at the Co-op Camp at Farmers Lake Sunday was well attended considering the threatening weather. Games were played in the forenoon, "mojakka" was served at noon and the following program was enjoyed during the afternoon:

Speech on Cooperation and the Rock Co-op by Arvid Mustonen Sr.

Accordion and saxophone duet by William Johnson and Eino Tapala.

Poem by Nihla Fahler. Recitation by John Maki. Accordion solo by Gary Johnson.

Arne Johnson acted as master of ceremonies during the festivities.

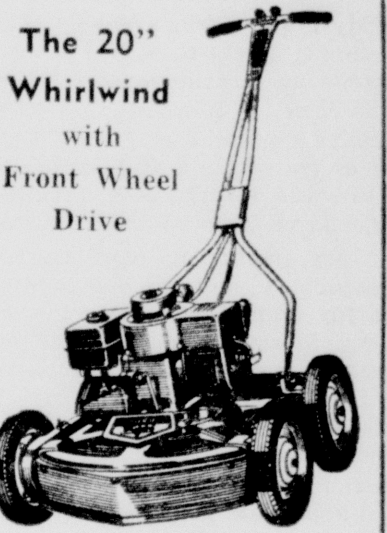

Wrong Environment For A Dog's Life

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—"Buster" the Dalmatian dog who tried out as mascot with the fire department sits forlornly in the humane society shelter, a victim of technological unemployment.

It isn't Buster's fault. Firemen said he qualified for the job. He even hopped up onto the seat of the aerial ladder truck when the fire bell rang.

But then firemen looked around them. The environment wasn't right for Buster. Brick and pavement completely surrounded the downtown station. "Not even a place to bury a bone," they said as they bid Buster goodbye.

Unlike some other rabbits, the newborn snowshoe rabbit has its eyes open and can run around the day it is born.

Nation Joins West Branch, Iowa Today In Saluting Mr. Hoover

THE little town of West Branch, Iowa pays tribute today to a native son, former President Herbert Hoover who is observing his 80th birthday. One of the highlights of the day is a visit by the former president to his birthplace in the small Iowa town.

West Branch's observance of Mr. Hoover's birthday anniversary is, in effect, the observance and tributes of the entire nation to the man who is the No. 1 elder statesman of the United States.

Few persons in the nation's history have served their fellowmen so ably and for so many years as has Herbert Hoover. The tremendous job of administering the European relief program after World War I was the springboard of Herbert Hoover's election to the presidency in 1928. He was a political victim of the great depression in 1932 but his service to his country was far from finished following his political defeat.

For a number of years Hoover has headed the tremendous task of governmental reorganization. A large number of his proposals have been enacted into law at great savings to the nation. Many others still await governmental action.

At the age of 80 when most men have long passed their governmental service, Herbert Hoover continues to offer worthy guidance to the nation.

The eyes of a grateful nation turn today to West Branch, Iowa and we join with the proud citizens of that community in saying to a great American, "Happy Birthday, Mr. President."

The Health Insurance Boom

THE multi-billion dollar health insurance business has quintupled in size in the past 10 years, writes John S. Cooper in the Wall Street Journal. He adds that "there is no sign this explosive growth will come to a halt," even though the House voted, by an almost two-to-one margin, against the proposal for government reinsurance to extend the benefits.

The story that Mr. Cooper tells is a dramatic one. At the end of 1941, about 16,000,000 people had hospital coverage, which usually pays for doctor's calls in the hospital, was practically unknown. Now 100,000,000 of us have protection against hospital bills, 75,000,000 have surgical insurance, and nearly 40,000,000 have the medical coverage.

Moreover, as Mr. Cooper points out, "the variety of protection today is almost endless. . . . Policies are available for everything from dental cavities to 'catastrophic illness' with surgical bills as high as $10,000." This seems due in large measure to increased competition for the business. About 800 insurance companies are now active in the field, in addition to the Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. And some labor unions and corporations have plans of their own.

This is certainly proof that the vast majority of Americans can and will take care of their health needs on a voluntary basis. The minority which is unable to do that can be helped without subjecting all the rest of us to compulsory health insurance which almost inevitably would be the prelude to some form of socialized or state-dominated medicine.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—There isn't the slightest shred of constitutional authority to back up a resolution of censure on the basis of the charges filed against Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin—and most of the members of the Senate know it.

The constitution has three provisions that could possibly be invoked to censure or expel members. These read as follows: "Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members. . . .

"Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish members for disorderly behavior, and with the concurrence of two thirds, expel a member. . . .

"The senators and representatives . . . shall in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place."

There have been 121 cases in which members of the Senate have been involved in contests over elections or over the improper use of money in their campaigns and some have been seated and others have been denied seats. But in every instance the question was raised only when the new member presented his credentials for admission.

Thus in the case of Senator William Langer, at present chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, an issue was presented in the 1941 session immediately after his election in 1940 and the majority of a Senate committee recommended that "inasmuch as the charge of 'moral turpitude' had been proven beyond all reasonable doubt, the integrity of the United States Senate be upheld by denying William Langer the right to be a senator from North Dakota."

In that case it had been alleged that Mr. Langer while governor had received $25,000 from the Great Northern Railway for stock in some lands in Mexico already expropriated after the railway's taxes had been cut $150,000 a year. The Senate refused to approve the committee report and by a vote of 52 to 30 upheld Mr. Langer's right to his seat in the Senate. This case involved personal behavior prior to admission to the Senate. Hence it came under the question of proper "qualifications" for membership in the Senate. There have been 16 expulsion cases involving misdemeanors, felonies and treason.

In the only three cases involving actual censure, one involved a physical encounter between Senator Tillman of South Carolina and Senator McLaurin, also of South Carolina. Another case involved the practice of certain senators who carried fire-arms while in the Senate.

The third case involved Senator Bingham of Connecticut. The resolution of censure exonerated him from personal misbehavior by declaring that what he did was "not the result of corrupt motives." He was reprimanded for designating as one of his clerks on his committee a man who was an employee of a manufacturers association in his own state interested in the tariff. It is a blot on the record of the Senate that it adopted that resolution. Dollar-a-year men have been employed in executive agencies in the past and have sat in confidential meetings. But even in this instance the case was presented to the Senate immediately upon its occurrence and not as an after-thought three years later as is happening now with most of the charges filed against Senator McCarthy.

Nearly all of the acts charged against McCarthy are alleged to have occurred prior to the time he was elected to his present term in November 1952 by the people of the state of Wisconsin. He was not questioned as to his "qualifications" on these or any other of the same matters before the Senate accepted his credentials in January 1953. Thus the episode involving his sale of a book for $10,000 to the Luston Corporation relating to housing and veterans occurred in 1951. The hearings by a Senate committee looking into his personal financial transactions about which he declined to testify because he considered the committee politically inspired, occurred before the election of 1952. The McCarthy speech attacking General Marshall also was made before the junior senator from Wisconsin presented his credentials in 1953. He is as immune from censure or punishment for what happened in his senatorial term, since expired, as Mr. Truman was when he refused early this year to answer questions about Harry Dexter White in response to a subpoena from a House committee.

As for the charges of discourteous handling of two alleged Communists and his resentment over General Zwicker's refusal to cooperate as a witness after failing to prevent the honorable discharge of a Communist from the Army, these open up new questions about how polite committee chairmen have to be with recalcitrant witnesses. There are no standards or rules now.

So far as other charges are concerned that relate to the conduct of a senator as a committee chairman or as speaker in the Senate, there isn't a single instance complained of that hasn't a parallel in the acts of many other senators, Democrats as well as Republicans. If the Senate ever passes a resolution censuring the Wisconsin senator on any of those points, a flood of censure resolutions condemning at least a third of the members of the Senate could be offered on the basis of such an unconstitutional precedent.

The Sixty-Four-Dollar Question

New York To Hawaii Merely Dawn-To-Dusk Flight By Air

By NEA Service

NEW YORK (NEA)—Thirty years ago this June, a young Army lieutenant, R. L. Maughan (below, left) wedged himself into the open cockpit of a single-motored Curtiss Pursuit plane and hopped across the continent from New York to San Francisco in 21 hours, 48 minutes elapsed time. It was the first Dawn-to-Dusk transcontinental flight.

Sharply defining aviation progress in three decades, commercial aviation has now linked the bright lights of Broadway with the white sands of Waikiki in a new Dawn-to-Dusk flight—the first ever attempted between New York and Honolulu (see map).

A special press inaugural flight in a United Airlines DC-7 on May 24 is designed to demonstrate the feasibility of breakfast-in-Manhattan, dinner—in-Hawaii air travel as result of new stepped-up transcontinental flying schedules starting June 1.

The luxurious Mainliner is in contrast with the tri-motored

Fokker monoplane in which Lieuts. A. F. Hegenberger and T. Maitland (left to right below, examining sextant) made the first flight from California to Hawaii in 1927. Their flying time was 25 hours, 50 minutes in a plane stripped of its essentials to permit installation of extra gas tanks.

The DC-7 will carry a full payload of passengers over the entire 5000-mile route from New York to Honolulu in 17 hours flying time.

American Girl Helps Bring New Life To French Child Cripples

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS (NEA)—This may be the "city of beautiful nonsense" for most Americans, but for one American girl it represents a life of earnest endeavor and devotion to a job.

Twenty-four-year-old Judith Kahn, of New York City, has spent the last two years as a staff member of the Philanthropic Society's "Aid to Paralyzed Children" institution, teaching the American method of occupational therapy to disabled children, many of whom, only a few years ago, were hidden in back rooms. Judith came to Paris through the "Association Atlantique," which sponsors the exchange of medical and specialized personnel—psychologists, nurses, social workers and therapists.

She is the first occupational therapist to come to France as well as the first American. She trained four years at Boston's School of Occupational Therapy, specializing in cerebral palsy cases. She is also a graduate of Hunter College.

The daughter of Dr. Bernard S.

Kahn of New York, Judith discovered her vocation at the age of 16. "My father sent me to a summer camp for children suffering from cerebral palsy as part of my education," she explains. "I hated the idea, but after a few weeks there I became so interested in the work that I decided to take it up as a profession."

The "Aid to Paralyzed Children" was the first center of its kind to be established in Paris in 1932. It is headed by Dr. Auguste Tournay, a well-known physio-pathologist, assisted by a neurologist, an orthopedist and a radiologist.

Since its foundation, the center has taken care of 2866 cases, divided mainly between polio and cerebral palsy victims. The majority of the children come from working-class families, and range from toddlers to 14-year-olds.

Because it is reputed as the most modern institution of its kind, there is a long waiting list and only the most severe cases can be hospitalized in the 60 beds available.

Thanks to generous donors, a second home has just been founded some 30 miles outside Paris. It is the only hospital too where all services can be found under the same roof and where an exceptional team spirit prevails, says Judith.

Recently the Philanthropic Society sent two members of the French staff to the United States to train in speech and occupational therapy and to follow courses in child psychology and special education.

According to Judith, this is the first center in France to treat child victims of cerebral palsy by modern methods. Her special job is to arouse their interest in the use of their hands and have fun at the same time.

She recently designed a set of marionettes which fascinates them.

"It takes all of six months to teach them the meaning of color and form and to differentiate between shapes and sizes of colored cubes," she says.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

ROUND-ABOUT WAY—Isle Royale, a national park and part of the State of Michigan, is so far from Michigan ports and is located unstrategically in stormy Lake Superior, that few people ever see it. The major reason, according to my informant who sends me a clipping from a Duluth newspaper, is that few people like to risk a long trip from a Michigan port to Isle Royale in a little boat.

The Michigan State Highway Department map does not list Isle Royale as Michigan's one and only national park in the state's list of tourist attractions, although the island is pictured on the map.

At Eagle Harbor an arrow points northwestward with the information that Isle Royale is "N. 39 degrees W. 48 miles." No tips on boat service.

The item in the Duluth newspaper is as follows:

"If you are interested in going to remote Isle Royale in Lake Superior, you have to go to Grand Portage, Minn., to get boat passage. Daily service to the island is now available from that point.

"The logical place from which to book passage is Houghton, but no seaworthy boat has been put into operation from that point. If you want complete information on Isle Royale you should not write to Grand Portage or some place in Minnesota, but to the superintendent of the Isle Royale National Park at Houghton."

THE BIG PARADE—Cecil Collins, director of the Escanaba City Band, recently staged a homecoming—to Ishpeming, where he resided before coming to Escanaba.

The homecoming occasion was the Ishpeming Centennial, and Director Collins and the Escanaba City Band played in the Centennial parade and was awarded first prize. Collins directed a letter to the Ishpeming centennial committee as follows:

"The members of the Escanaba City Band, our five majorettes, and myself are unanimous in our thanks and appreciation to the officials and persons responsible for our appearance as a participating unit in your mammoth Centennial parade.

"It was indeed a great pleasure to be invited to help in the most stupendous and well-planned parade the Escanaba City Band has ever participated in.

"The people of Ishpeming and Marquette County were very responsive to all participants, the line of march was superbly policed from start to finish. Your Centennial officers are to be congratulated for a big job well done."

The Escanaba City Band is proud of the decision of the parade judges in awarding it first place Director Collins concluded.

Note: Following a period of indecision, Escanaba City Council approved sending the City Band to Ishpeming, rather than a parade float, Escanaba's cooperative action paid off in widespread publicity for this community. And if Escanaba should hold a centennial in 1963 no doubt Ishpeming and other U. P. towns will send bands and floats for a parade here.

MERRIWELL'S BUNYAN—George Springer, formerly of Gladstone and now residing in Minneapolis, writes that while doing some research on the history of lumbering in the United States, he ran across some interesting material at the University of Minnesota Library.

It had to do with two great American heroes—Paul Bunyan and Frank Merriwell.

To the boys of a generation ago, the fictional Merriwell was better known than the legendary Bunyan of lumberjack fame. For the Frank Merriwell series told of the exploits of an all-American boy in the world of sports.

The author of the Merriwell books was the late Gilbert Patten, born in Maine in 1866, who wrote under the pseudonym of Bert Standish. Springer found a reference to Bunyan in a Patten autobiography. Wrote Patten of his father, William Clark Patten:

"My father was Bill to practically everybody but my mother, and he was a great man who knew Paul Bunyan when Paul was only a little boy, not over ten years old and not more than ten or twelve feet tall. They met on the Penobscot River, where my father was a river driver."

Springer concludes from his research that Maine has a prior claim to Paul Bunyan, and that tale-telling lumberjacks brought him with them to Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota in later years.

Bitter Sage

By Frank Gruber

THE STORY: Sage City is a wide-open cattle trail town in Kansas in 1877. Wes Tancered, known only as "John Bailey," works as a printer for Luke Miller who is striving to make the town law-abiding. But cattle herds are arriving from Texas and with them comes Hong Kong Smith, one of the biggest of the cattlemen, whose cowboys are now awaiting pay.

VIII
Hong Kong Smith towered well above six feet six in his high-heeled boots. He was about 45, tipped the scales at 270 and you could hear his voice about as far as a gun would carry.

He came out of the Sage City Bank, his huge hat filled with coin. The score of men who had brought the first trail herd of the season up the Chisholm Trail let out a roar. About a dozen fired their guns.

Hong Kong Smith shouted the men into silence. "Come and get it, you dirty, mangy sons of Texas!"

He led the way across the street to the Texas Saloon, set the hatful of money on the bar. "Whiskey!" he roared.

A bartender hurried up with two bottles of whiskey and a water tumbler. Smith poured out a tumblerful of whiskey. "Let's do this businesslike. Who's first, beginning with A?"

"Adams," cried out a cowboy. "Adams," said Smith. "Forty-two dollars." He fished around in the hat, brought out four gold eagles and added two silver dollars. "Here's your money and this." He picked up the tumblerful of whiskey.

The Texas man winced but drained off the huge amount of whiskey. He sputtered and choked and Hong Kong Smith slapped him on the back.

"Next man," he sang out.

"Baker," cried a Texas man. Smith refilled the big glass of whiskey and forced it on the man called Baker. He paid him his $42, booming out, "You don't spend any of that. Not today, you don't. Today Hong Kong Smith pays the bill."

"Hokey for Hong Kong Smith!" yelled a man and the ovation was taken up by every man in the Texas Saloon.

Lily Leeds came out of her office, Hong Kong Smith whooped when he saw her. "Lily, my girl, you get prettier every time I see you."

"Oh, it's you again," said Lily in disgust.

"That's what I like about you—your sense of humor," roared Smith. He swooped Lily into his arms. "Give us a kiss, Lily girl."

She slapped his face, but the big man crushed her to him and forced her face up. He kissed her resoundingly and when he released her, she rocked his head with hard slaps. But Smith was impervious.

A half hour later they smashed four tables in the Texas Saloon and broke the back-bar mirror.

Marshal Kinnaird and his deputies, acting upon instructions from Mayor Fugger, discreetly stayed out of the way of the brawling men.

Shortly before 12 Luke Miller brought a couple of sheets of copy paper to Tancered.

Tancered's eyes skimmed over the story, which bore the head, "The Devil and Texas Rule Sage City." Luke Miller pulled no punches. Jacob Fugger, he said, catered to the lawless Texas men, because they were making him rich. The Kansas & Western Railroad paid him $1 for every Texas steer that was shipped from Sage City. Fugger saw that the Texas cowboys received hard cash in Sage City, instead of at their homes in Texas. And through his stores and saloons, Fugger saw that that money was taken away from them.

Fugger owned Sage City and he pulled the strings the way they suited him. Right now it suited him to let the Texas men run wild and the citizens of Sage City could expect only violence and bloodshed. The law would not curb the Texas men because Fugger owned the law.

Right now, if you were a Texas man and it suited you to insult a Sage City woman on the streets, that was perfectly all right. If you felt like breaking a few windows about town, no one would punish you for indulging your whim. Or, maybe your fancy ran to riding your horse on the sidewalks or into stores. Go right ahead, no one would stop you. As long as you paid tribute to Jacob Fugger.

"I'll set it up," said Tancered. "After lunch will be all right. . . . Fugger will never forgive me for that."

"He's not exactly your friend right now."

"Now he'll really put on the screws. But there's an election in a month. My only chance is to try to rouse the local voters enough so they'll vote Fugger and his clique out of office. If they don't, I'm through in Sage City."

Tancered washed his hands and left the shop. He walked to South Street and crossed to go to the Bon Ton Cafe. As he walked along he heard angry yelling in McCoy's Saloon, then two quick shots.

A man catapulted out of McCoy's and made for the horses at the hitchrail. He mounted one and galloped up the street, emptying his revolver at the blue sky.

OPERATIONS RESUMED—The huge Abadan refinery in Iran, shown above, will go into operation again after a three-year shutdown. Its reopening is a result of a new 25-year agreement between Iran and a Western combine which includes five American oil companies. The agreement ends a struggle which cost more than 1000 lives and threatened to swing Iran into Soviet orbit.

Imitation Space Ship Acquired By Air Force

By VERN HAUGLAND

Associated Press Aviation Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force said Saturday it has acquired its first imitation space ship—a nonflying sealed cabin for the study of human factors in passage through outer space.

The cabin, which looks more like a house furnace than a scientific device, has been delivered to the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at San Antonio, Tex.

It is designed to give researchers at the Randolph Field institution most of the sensations they would experience on a flight of several hours or days in space.

Provide Answers

Actually it is related to the low-pressure chambers in which Air Force specialists for some years have studied human reactions to the thin air in the stratosphere and beyond it.

But low-pressure or "altitude" chambers reproduce conditions in the air outside the craft. They tell the physiologist what happens when things go wrong and a pressurized plane loses its pressure.

The sealed cabin is designed to show what goes on inside the space ship, where a careful balance of atmospheric conditions must be artificially maintained.

Dangerous Gas
Above 80,000 feet there is so little air that conventional pressurized cabins cannot be used—because present-day compressors cannot pump in enough air to prevent altitude sickness.

Furthermore, the air above 80,000 feet contains dangerous amounts of ozone, a gas harmful in high concentrations. Several test pilots in experimental rocket aircraft—William Bridgeman, Marine Lt. Col. Marion E. Carl, Air Force Maj. Charles E. Yeager—already have flown for brief intervals in this aeromedical twilight area.

Also, in a cabin sealed off from outside air, the occupant uses up oxygen at a rate of about 26 quarts an hour, at the same time exhaling carbon dioxide along with water vapor.

Thus the sealed cabin must carry

Lassoing Raccoon Atop Power Pole Takes Real Talent

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Hey, cow-poke! roping a steer is kid's play. Just try looping a lasso over a snapping raccoon atop a power pole.

Ask Harold Sullivan, a lineman who needed 30 minutes to turn the trick Friday.

Old Joe, a cagey 'coon, had escaped from his pen and climbed the pole near downtown Louisville. Sullivan's delicate job was made more delicate by repeated pleas from down on the street:

"Don't hurt him, don't hurt him, he's just a pet."

Old Joe would let Sullivan loop his head. Then he'd draw it out before the lineman could draw the noose.

New Silhouette May Be Boon To Manufacturers

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — Brassier and corset manufacturers are taking a second look today at Parisian dressmakers' new ideas about the female figure.

Some are now saying there can be gold in flattening out those curves.

The exaggerated bosom and the pinched-in waist were a bonanza for the industry. But how many manufacturers in any industry that leans on fashion balk at a change?

If the hour-glass look runs out, as Paris decrees, it might lead hordes of women to think they needed a new wardrobe—from the skin out.

Still Necessary

At first the foundation garment makers feared the flat look would mean a return of the corsetless days of the 20s. Now most of them say the foundation garment—though a somewhat changed one—will still be necessary if the new duds catch on.

Some doubt that they will, however. They contend Paris may set the fashion for the comparatively few in the high-style world. But they say the mass market in this country usually follows the taste, if any, of the reigning Hollywood movie star. Present contenders for that title all tend toward the lush side.

"If the new style catches on, we can profit from it," one foundation garment expert says. "Bosoms will still be there. In the new styles they just aren't top heavy." "Word from Paris is that it will take new foundations to achieve the new silhouette. We'll have to learn to make the — and to sell them."

Waistline Freer

One selling point the industry spokesmen are sharpening up is that women's waists will be freer. The new foundation garments will let out some of the pinch in the middle. They will hold the hips more tightly—but make them look slimmer, less rounded.

"That's where most women have their trouble, anyway," another girdle fashioner says. "The present styles of pinching in the waist and accenting the hips makes some of them look a little unattractive."

Manufacturers doubt if the new fashion, supposing it catches on, shows up much in the stores before spring.

Church Events

Christian Science Society

That true happiness is to be found through understanding the spiritual laws which govern the universe including man will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul."

The spiritual nature of happiness is set forth in the following passage which will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (60:29-2):

"Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul. Higher enjoyments alone can satisfy the cravings of immortal man. We cannot circumscribe happiness within the limits of personal sense."

Rotary Hears French Youth

Pierre Brohan, 22, of France, who is in this area this summer as a guest of the Escanaba Rotary Club in a program designed to foster international good will and understanding, charmed members of the Gladstone Rotary Club yesterday noon with the story of his trip.

Speaking remarkably good English with a remarkably delightful French accent, Pierre, who looks more like a movie actor than a graduate of a school of business administration, held his audience from his opening words.

His trip to the United States came as an award in a competitive examination held by the French Chamber of Commerce. Their award was $240 and his parents supplemented the sum to provide the $400 necessary. The trip was made by air to Idlewild Airport, then by bus to Chicago and north.

Pierre lives in a suburb of Paris with his parents, a sister and a brother. His father is sales manager for a chain of paper mills in southeastern France.

The young man told of the various industries in this area he has visited in the time he has been here and said he planned on visiting Ishpeming for a trip through an iron mine this week.

Telling of France he said the nation has a population of about 42 million persons of which about 10 per cent reside in Paris. The average salary of the French worker is about $150 with a low of about $80 while some others in better positions may make up to $600. A few, very few may make $1,200 to $1,500.

One of the differences he has noted is that in America all food is placed on the plate at one time for the meal. In France, he said, they had seven courses.

Pierre was introduced by Dr. N. L. Lindquist of the Escanaba club.

Russell Piche, Grosse Pointe, Mich., Rotarian, was a guest at the meeting.

Ohio Planning New Toll Road

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The Ohio Highway Department today announced a tentative route for a second Ohio turnpike which would connect Cincinnati in Ohio's southwestern corner with Conneaut in the extreme northeast corner near the Pennsylvania border.

Also announced was a tentative route for a sur which would connect Columbus with Toledo and extend to the Michigan border south of Detroit.

The mileage of the total project is 410 miles. The Cincinnati-Conneaut toll highway would be about 295 miles. The Columbus-Toledo leg would be about 115 miles.

The Cincinnati - Conneaut leg would hook up with Pennsylvania's proposed extension of the New York Thruway.

Ohio has its first turnpike under construction. The 241-mile project connects with the Pennsylvania Turnpike south of Youngstown, Ohio, and extends to the Indiana border a few miles south of the Michigan line. It is due for completion late in 1955.

The Cincinnati - Conneaut toll road would swing close to Dayton and Springfield, Ohio, as it starts north, turning just north of Columbus, turn north to a point near Mansfield, meet the northern Ohio turnpike in suburban Cleveland, follow the northern Ohio pike for about 15 miles, turn sharply north to Painesville just south of Lake Erie, then take a northeasterly path about 60 miles to Conneaut.

No cost estimate has been made for the proposed new superhighway. Ohio's first turnpike cost about $26 million dollars.

GLADSTONE

Al-c Henry DeMay Takes Southern Girl For Bride

A-1 C Henry DeMay, who is stationed at Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix DeMay, Gladstone, claimed as his bride, Miss Patricia Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Eunice, La. The marriage was solemnized at 9:30 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church on Thursday morning July 8.

Father Van Stratter read the double ring ceremony. Byron Smith, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Elie Caillout as he sang "Ave Verum" by Mozart. Floor Standards of white gladiolus were placed inside the altar rail. White satin pompons marked the family pews.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a patio length gown of silk embroidered tulle over taffeta. The bouffant skirt of embroidered tulle formed scallops at the edge of the overskirt to reveal a ruffle of fluted tulle at the hemline. The strapless bodice of embroidered tulle was designed with sea'ops and finished with draped tulle. A brief jacket of embroidered tulle, fashioned with long sleeves and Peter Pan collar, was worn over the bodice. A face framing half hat of lace edged with seed pearls in scalloped styling held the triple tiered veil of imported illusion. Her old fashioned nosegay bouquet, outlined with tulle and satin shower ribbons attached to a white missal, was fashioned of lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid.

Miss Nathalie Manuel was maid of honor and Miss Marlene Frey, bridesmaid. Miss Manuel's gown was sunflower yellow and Miss Frey's was cornflower blue. Designed along identical lines, the frocks had strapless bodices of lace with a petal effect of accordion pleated tulle. They wore brief, short sleeved jackets of lace. The lace was repeated to form scalloped peplums, accentuated with insertions of tulle, that were worn over the billowing skirt of tulle over taffeta, in ballerina length. Face framing half hats of taffeta with forget-me-not trim and opera pumps of a harmonizing shade completed their attire. Their bouquets were old fashioned nosegays outlined with lace and satin streamers. The maid of honor carried lavender daisies and the bridesmaid, shaded pink pompon mums.

Don Phalen of Barksdale Field, Shreveport was best man and Leo Mandeville, also of Barksdale Field, was groomsman. Ushers were Alvin Smith, brother of the bride and Diggie Smith, cousin of the bride.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, 120 Canne St. Mrs. Smith received her guests in a powder blue lace dress with pink and black accessories and wore pink carnations in her corsage. White gladiolus were placed at vantage points throughout the reception rooms.

The bride's table was overlaid with a white cutwork cloth, centered with a four tiered cake. The base of the cake was outlined with flat fern and nosegays of forget-me-nots. The bottom tier of the cake was designed with angels attached to white columns. Between the columns were glass panes through which could be seen white swans that appeared to be floating. Around the sides of the cake were wedding bells, white roses and doves of peace. Above the columns, was a three tiered cake with a miniature bridal pair standing under an arch stephanotis. White roses and silver leaves decorated the top and sides. Lighted white tapers, in white ceramic holders, stood on either side of the cake. A crystal punch service completed the table appointments.

For traveling, the bride chose a tangerine sundress with matching jacket with rhinestone trim. Her accessories were white and she wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet on her shoulder.

The young couple are making their home at Barksdale Field where the groom is stationed.

Uncased Gun In Car Brings Fine

Arraigned before Justice of Peace A. Theodore Sohlberg Monday afternoon on charges of having an uncased gun in an automobile, Carl Mosier and Robert Martin, Rapid River, pleaded guilty and each was fined $25 and ordered to pay court costs of $7.80. In each case the penalty imposed was paid.

Mosier and Roberts were arrested on the Hamilton Lake Road early Sunday morning by Conservation Officers Glenn Price, Gladstone, and Chester VanWier-an, Escanaba, who found a .22 Hornet caliber rifle, neither cased or broken down in the auto they were driving.

The weapon was not loaded. Officer Price said one of the men claimed they were looking for a coyote which had been sighted on a previous occasion. He added, however, that the driver showed no inclination to stop when the officers followed them and tried to halt the car.

Parking Meter Petition Heard

Two petitions were received and discussed by the City Council at their Monday evening meeting at the City Hall, along with a controversy on group hospitalization insurance and acceptance and tabling of several submitted bids on new equipment or work.

William Corson, Victor Deemer, Benjamin Gero, Homer LaFollette and Elmer Lundstrom petitioned the council for parking meters on Maple St. between Arbutus Ave. and Oak St. The meters would operate from 8 a. m.-7 p. m. along the west side of the block, according to the plan.

It was reported that the reason for the request was the blocking of the homes of the above men by Curran's Chevrolet Sales' property. His wreckers and automobiles are monopolizing the parking space the petitioners contended.

Refer For Action

The Council referred the petition to the City Manager and the Chief of Police for study and possible diplomatic action.

Nine signees requested a four-inch water main on Center St. east of Alger Ave. The water main would be extended 432-feet east. City Manager Orson Livermore disclosed that the valuation of some of the affected properties was not high enough, in some cases, to take the desired special assessment.

After hearing Mayor A. W. Heitman declare that "people ought to have water," Council agreed with the mayor that the manager should study the matter and attempt to reach an agreement with the parties affected.

Insurance Squabble

Emil Knoph, representing the Lincoln Life Insurance Company, Fort Wayne, Ind., addressed the councilmen with a complaint that two city employees had portions of hospitalization insurance, with another company, paid by the city. Knoph termed this the "dirtiest, rottenest deal in the world."

The agent claimed he had the franchise for the city employees by virtue of his company's group coverage. Knoph is attempting to attain a 75 percent coverage among city employees—he now has 50 percent—in order to keep covering the employees. Under an oral agreement several council members agreed that the city would pay about one-quarter of the premium if Knoph could reach his goal. The city is now paying 67 cents on a $2.63 monthly premium.

"Our Money"

Heitman agreed that the situation was "unethical" but reminded Knoph that "we'll do what we want with our money." This followed Knoph's belief that the city should make the men return the funds they had received for their "non-franchise" insurance.

The mayor also agreed that it "looks like we ought to re-examine our entire insurance setup." He called the whole affair "a most disheartening experience to try to get insurance for these people."

City Policeman Joseph Davis spoke up for the Lincoln plan and mentioned that other city employees were desirous of keeping the group insurance.

Knoph left after declaring that the "best thing is for Lincoln Life Insurance to cancel its coverage."

Sidewalk

After hearing no objections to a proposed special assessment W. Elk St. sidewalk, Council instructed the City Manager to proceed with the project.

Amid confusion and uncertainties, the council voted to publish notice of an assessment roll of sewer and water extension on Arbutus Ave. Council would meet with the assessor to hear and consider objections Aug. 23. The resolution presupposes that the assessor has prepared the special roll.

Overlooked when the council passed motion was the factor that the city has been without an assessor since July 1. In accordance with this factor, the motion was informally held in abeyance, though never formally repealed.

Fire Truck Bids

Bids on new fire hose, having been tabulated, were again tabled until the Aug. 23 meeting, pending further investigation. Lowest bidder was American Rubber Manufacturing Co. of Oakland Calif. They asked a total of $548 far below any other submitted. Fire Chief Elmer Boal thought the bid sounded "cheap," and leaned towards those manufactured by Eureka Fire Hose Co., New York N. Y. Eureka is at $785.

Because of another unsuspected bid from Hoholik's Plumbing, Manistique, the city manager was directed to investigate his offer and the others in more detail.

Accepted was a bid from the Office Supply Co., Escanaba, on a desk and a 19 inch carriage typewriter for Justice Court. With discounts and trade-in, the typewriter, $237, will cost $180. The desk costs $120.

Submitted bids on lighting materials for replacement in addition on River St. were opened. Seven were entered, and the city manager was directed to tabulate. Varying estimates were received from four concerns on painting and cleaning the interior, exterior and roof of the water tower. No action was taken, and the bids will be discussed at the Aug. 23 meeting.

Property Owners Talk About Lake

Indian Lake property owners and local businessmen were expected to attend a special meeting at 8 tonight in the Thompson Township Hall to discuss the Lake water level problem.

The water is about one and one-half feet below levels of previous summers and has been described as being "lower than ever before." A dam formerly controlled flowage from the lake down the Indian River to the Manistique River. This dam was demolished and replaced by boards that are "not retaining the water in the lake."

Leonard Donaldson, a Detroit attorney, will mention possible solutions to the problem at tonight's gathering. The public meeting was called to "discuss ways and means of restoring Indian Lake to its former level."

Emilie Dionne Choked To Death, Doctor Reveals

MONTREAL (AP)—Dr. Rosario Fontaine, Quebec medico—legal expert who performed an autopsy on the body of Emilie Dionne, said Monday she choked to death.

Elaborating on a statement he made Saturday at the conclusion of the autopsy, Dr. Fontaine said the immediate cause of death of the famed quintuplet was asphyxiation—or suffocation. This occurred, he said, while Emilie was struck by one of a series of epileptic seizures.

He said it was also possible that her lungs failed after a long series of epileptic attacks.

"I cannot say definitely how she was asphyxiated, but that is how she died," he said.

Sunday, two doctors of the Neurological Institute of Columbia University's Presbyterian Medical Center questioned whether Emilie died of epilepsy.

Dr. Fontaine commented today: "They should not have been so hasty in their criticism. It was a clear case of asphyxiation. They should have asked me directly for findings."

Snider, Noren Top Bat Races

NEW YORK (P)—Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Irv Noren of the New York Yankees continue to hold commanding leads in the major league batting races today, although both slumped last week.

Snider tops the National League with a .354 average and is 15 points ahead of runner-up Stan Musial of the Cardinals. The Brooklyn outfielder lost four points in going 6-for-21 last week.

Noren's average dwindled 11 points to .339, but he is 12 points in front of Minnie Minoso of the Chicago White Sox, his closest pursuer. The Yankees' outfielder went 5-for-24.

Musial, seeking his seventh batting crown, remains in contention for National League hitting honors with .339. The slender Cardinal gained one point with 11-for-31 as he moved from fourth to second.

Don Mueller of the Giants lost five points and fell from second to third at .338.

Minoso picked up ground on Noren, although he dropped three points with five hits in 19 at bats. His teammate, Nellie Fox, advanced from a fifth place bid to third with a .322 mark. Fox increased his average seven points in going 11-for-24.

Give All-Stars 50-50 Chance Against Lions Friday Night

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (P)—There is growing belief that the College All-Stars might meet with success Friday night against professional champion Detroit Lions with a passing attack equalling anything ever seen in the last 20 years of the football classic.

A crowd of about 90,000 will pack into huge Soldier Field to watch the graduated collegians attempt to grab their first victory over the National Football League champions since 1950 and their seventh in the series. The game will be televised (Du Mont) and broadcast (Mutual) starting at 7:30 p. m. CST.

The pros have won 12 times and two games were tied.

Give 50-50 Chance

Some experts concede the All-Stars a 50-50 chance, mainly because the Lions, who romped to a 24-10 triumph last year, will be required to abandon their two-platoon system and operate under collegiate rules of limited substitution. This, of course, does away with specialists—the backbone of professional teams.

The All Stars always have been their best when their squads were led by great passers. Otto Graham's loss to Elroy Hirsch for a touchdown was the key play in the All-Stars' 16-0 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in 1946. Sammy Baugh's scoring shot to Gaynell

Call Manistique Gridders For Equipment, Practice

MANISTIQUE—Nine returning lettermen will greet Coach Richard Bonifas when he issues equipment 1-4 p. m. Thursday to seniors and the returning veterans of the Manistique Emeralds. Practice starts Monday afternoon in preparation for the Sept. 3 opener against Ishpeming at home.

Friday suits will be given to juniors from 9-11:30 a. m. and from 9-11:30 a. m. Saturday equipment will be issued to sophomores. All hopefuls, including freshmen, were advised to report for physical examinations 9:30 a. m. Monday at the old gymnasium. A charge will be made for shoes though a refund will be given at the close of the season.

Bonifas and Assistant Coach Bob Ebli will begin putting their squad through three weeks of workouts in preparation for an eight-game season. All contests are against Great Lakes Conference eleven except that on Sept. 10 at Stephenson.

Last year, the second under Bonifas, the Emeralds sported a 6-2-1 mark after a 7-1 record and a conference championship the year before.

Leading the nine returning lettermen who contributed to 1953's record will be leading league scorer Bill Holm, a halfback. Fullback Don Anderson, fourth top point-getter in the circuit, also is returning.

The other seven who will provide a nucleus for Bonifas are Jim Cowman, a linebacker and prospective quarterback; Alroy Mersnick, tackle; Robert Corson, center; Ed Busch, tackle; Harold Pawley, end; George Phillion, center; and Robert Carney, a guard.

The coach expects underclassmen to "do most of the work" and believes that he will retain many sophomores and juniors to fill the gaps in his lineup.

Working from an unbalanced line, the eleven will use a winged-T and a single-wing for their offense under the high school two-platoon regulations.

The Manistique schedule: Sept. 3—Ishpeming here. Sept. 10—Stephenson there. Sept. 17—Negaunee here. Sept. 25—Gladstone there. Oct. 1—Newberry here. Oct. 9—Munising there. Oct. 15—Soo there. Oct. 22—Marquette here.

Esky Cubs To Play Dads On Thursday

The annual game between the Esky Cubs and their dads will be staged at 6 Thursday evening at the City Diamond.

Al Ness will send his American Legion Junior players into action in full strength while Burt Goodreau will direct the fathers of the young baseball stars.

The Cubs are in the midst of a three-day outing at the hunting camp owned by Ness on the Big West Branch of the Escanaba River.

Defending Champion Rosemary LeMire Is First Round Winner

Defending champion Rosemary LeMire shot steady golf yesterday afternoon to post a first round victory, 6 and 5, over Irene Hogan as the annual Escanaba Golf Club women's tournament got under way.

A field of 32 golfers began firing in match play in the 18-hole and 9-hole divisions. Finals in the 18-hole club championship will be held Thursday afternoon starting at 2. The 9-hole tournament will end tomorrow.

Mrs. LeMire is a three-time club champion. In addition to her title last year she topped top honors in the 1949 and 1950 tournaments. Ruth Needham, who bested Bill Wohlén, 4 and 2, yesterday won the trophy in 1951 and Dorothy Anderson who is not competing this year was the 1952 titlist.

One of the tightest contests in the opening round saw Jean Smith a tournament veteran, edge out newcomer Gloria Lee 1-up in 20 holes.

In the championship flight of the 9-hole tourney Ann Harrington needed an extra hole to eliminate Eunice Kozel, 1-up.

Elaine Rose fired the best golf in the tourney's first matches with a 45 on the front nine and a 49 coming in. She eliminated Dorothy Farrell, 8 and 6.

Roy Mack To Put Cards On Table

PHILADELPHIA (P)—Roy Mack gets a chance to put his cards on the table today at a meeting with two wealthy Philadelphians seeking to buy the Philadelphia Athletics baseball team.

Harry Sytk, a drug chain executive, joins with financier Albert M. Greenfield in talks with the executive vice-president of the A's. They head a group of some 16 civic leaders seeking to keep the A's franchise in Philadelphia.

Arnold Johnson, a Chicago businessman, has offered to buy the team and move it to Kansas City. Estimates of Johnson's offer have ranged as high as 4½ million dollars.

Sytk said he expects a full financial report from Roy today. Roy, his brother and partner, Earle, and their dad, Connie Mack Sr., are neck-deep in financial troubles. After 54 years of operating the Athletics, the family faces sale of the club or possible bankruptcy. Earle says there isn't a dime in the till and the Macks are done in Philadelphia.

The Harnischfeger city champs flexed their muscles in the opening game of the Class A district tournament at Memorial Field last night and belted the visiting Munising Moosehead Lodge team 10-0 in four innings. The game was halted at that point because of a state tournament rule which gives a team with a 10-run lead an automatic victory.

In Class B action a Manistique hurler handicapped by a broken left hand hurled a one-hitter as the Manistique Fords edged Rapid River Bar 2-0 on the strength of two tallies in the final frame.

In Class C, the St. Thomas Old-timers bested the Munising Moose 12-6 and Inland Steel of Manistique topped Clairmont Old-timers 7-2.

Moran Is Sharp

Pat Moran picked up where John Pierpon left off in the recent city tournament and completely overpowered the Munising Mooseheads as the Harnies won their abbreviated opener. Moran struck out the first seven men to face him, didn't issue a walk in four innings and allowed only one base-runner.

In the four-inning stint Moran whiffed nine of the 13 men men to come to bat. The only base-runner was left fielder Reider who gained life on an error at short-stop.

The Harnies belted two Munising pitchers for nine hits with Lowell LaPlante collecting three for three. Charley Camps clouted a triple, Moran doubled and singled and Howard Rusha doubled.

Broken Hand

Al Adams handled mound chores effectively for the Manistique Fords in spite of a broken bone in his fielding hand, suffered in a baseball game last week. The fast right-hander allowed only one hit and was in command all the way.

The Fords reached Lefty Lake for four hits on the Rapid River hill. The key blow came in the top of the seventh, a double with two on by Marv Frederickson. Adams, who had bunted safely, scored from third base and Francis Selling, on with a single, tallied from second.

Bill Doucette chucked the win for St. Thomas with a neat seven-hitter. The winners picked up nine safeties off Cook who went the distance for Munising Moose.

Harnies Play Wednesday

One of the key advance games in the tournament schedule comes up Wednesday evening at 7:30 at Memorial Field when the Harn-

Babe Ruth League Tournament Opens On Two Diamonds

The 1954 Babe Ruth League championship tournament will be staged this week with opening games set for Wednesday evening at 6 at two diamonds.

The L&R Sport Shop meets AFL Unions at the city diamond while the top-ranked Elks take on Paper Mill at Royce in the openers.

Kiwanis, dark horse of the tourney, drew a bye and will play the Elks-Paper Mill winner at 10 a. m. Saturday at Memorial Field. Insurance Association meets the L&R-AFL winner Saturday at 1 at Memorial.

The tournament championship game is scheduled for Saturday evening at 5 at the City Diamond.

The tourney this year will be a single elimination affair.

Ischfeger team returns to action against the Escanaba Merchants.

The Harnies will send Pierpon to the mound while the Merchants will go with steady Leo Lancour. The clash was moved up a half an hour in the time schedule so that fans will be able to see the game and also catch the light heavyweight championship fight between Archie Moore and Harold Johnson on television, starting at 9.

Tonight's schedule has two Class B games on tap and one in Class C. Clairmont Transfer, finalists in the city tournament, meet Munising Paper Co. in the 8 o'clock contest.

Albin Carlson Cops Senior Golf Trophy

IRON MOUNTAIN — Albin Carlson of Escanaba Highland won top honors in bracket C (60 to 64 years of age) of the Upper Peninsula Senior golf tournament here Sunday. Carlson fired a 93 to top the field.

C. B. Peters of the Escanaba Golf Club was the oldest player to compete in the tournament. The 84-year-old Escanaba golfer has taken part in all 16 U. P. Senior tourneys.

Phil Colasanti of Sault Ste. Marie fired two rounds of 38 for a 76 and the U. P. "Old-timers" championship.

Are Dodgers Ever Going To Move?

By BEN PHILEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York made its move early. Milwaukee went into high gear late last month. The question now is: Are the Dodgers ever going to start clicking?

Brooklyn pulled away from the pack last August and finished 13 games in front.

The first place Giants, after their June surge, have rocked along at a 19-16 clip since July 4. The Dodgers, who trailed by 3½ on Independence Day, still are three games behind. They've won 20 and lost 16.

7½ Games Out
But the Braves have come with a rush, winning 24 and losing 10, to pull within 4½ games of Brooklyn and 7½ of the Giants.

Brooklyn manager Walt Alton has picked Johnny Podres to open a two-game series tonight against the Phils.

This will be the second start for the southpaw since an appendix operation. He lasted only 3-2-3 innings against St. Louis last week.

Podres won seven games up to mid-June when he was sidelined. Last season as a rookie he had a 9-4 record.

Dodgers Better Off

The Dodgers would appear to have a slight break over the Braves and Giants on the remaining schedule. They have 21 games with first division clubs, 12 of them are in Ebbets Field and they have 10 games left with their most favorite foe, the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Dodgers stand 10-2 with the last place club.

Milwaukee has the most games left, 47, and the most home games 25. The Braves also have the fewest against first division clubs, 17. But they have to play 12 more with St. Louis and the Cardinals always have been tough for Milwaukee.

Nine games remain between the Giants and Dodgers, six of them in Brooklyn. The Giants also have 12 left with fourth place Philadelphia and five with Milwaukee.

Braves At St. Louis
The Giants stop off for a single game in Pittsburgh tonight and the Braves open a three-game set in St. Louis.

In the American League the New York Yankees, now four games back of Cleveland, start a string of 15 games against second division foes by entertaining the Philadelphia Athletics. Cleveland goes to Detroit and third place Chicago will be at home against Baltimore. The White Sox trail by seven.

In other action Chicago will be at Cincinnati tonight in the National League and Washington at Boston in the American for a day-night doubleheader.

Odds Dip Slightly On Moore-Johnson Battle

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (P)—Archie Moore, the 37½-year-old light heavyweight champion, hasn't shown the faintest sign that he's on the way down, after 18 years of pro battling and 141 fights.

Harold Johnson, who celebrated his 28th birthday Monday, hopes old age will catch up with Archie Wednesday night when the two collide in a 15-round title scrap at Madison Square Garden. "But I'm not counting on anything like that," said the challenger. "He's tough, real tough. Every one of our four previous fights have been close and hard."

18 Straight Wins

Moore won three of the four 10-rounders, including the last one Jan. 29, 1952. Johnson scored his victory Dec. 10, 1951. Archie hasn't been beaten since. The strong-armed, clever champion has won 18 straight. Johnson, a superb counter-puncher, has won 12 in a row, including decisions over Ezzard Charles and Nino Valdes, the two top-ranking heavyweight contenders.

Johnson's fine workouts and his grim determination, plus Moore's weight-making problem, have shortened the odds. Moore now is favored 8-5. Before it was 2-1 and higher.

Weight Problem

There is growing support for the theory that weight-making finally is going to catch up with the aging champion. He's had difficulty making the division limit of 175 pounds for some time. He weighed 189½ June 7 when he stopped heavyweight Bert Whitehurst in six rounds.

After his last title defense against Joey Maxim, Jan. 27 in Miami, Moore said he melted off five pounds on the final day. He looked great, too, in shallocking the 32-year-old Maxim over 15 rounds.

Indians Want Scalps And Eye Tiger Locks

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians want scalps and they mean to lift the hair of the Detroit Tigers in a three-game series beginning tonight.

Tribe manager Al Lopez doesn't think the Tigers are a pushover, especially since the last three Detroit-New York games.

"The Tigers will see my top pitchers," Lopez said Monday. "We're not going to take any chances. Early Wynn will work the Tuesday night game, Mike Garcia will pitch Wednesday and Bob Lemon in the final game Thursday."

One Good Reason
The work of this "Big Three" is one of the main reasons the Indians are four games out in front of the race for the American League flag.

This series is a crucial one for both teams. The Tigers need as many victories as they can muster to maintain a safe grip on the bottom rung of the first division. For Cleveland, it means perhaps a chance to fatten the lead over the second place Yankees.

In the just-ended New York series

International Junior Golf Tourney Begins

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—All 48 states will have teen-age golfers participating in the ninth annual Jaycee International Junior golf tournament next week.

The tourney is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Most of the states will send their full quota of four players. Also expected are teams from the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Canada, Panama and the Canal Zone.

"We are expecting a starting field of 192 boys," said Chuck Lanier, head of the tournament committee. Four of the boys have already arrived, including Ted Boats of Anderson, Ind.

Qualifying play is slated Aug. 16 and 17 with the top 100 and ties starting the 72-hole tournament proper Aug. 18.

Big Time Grid Sked For Air Force School

NEW YORK (AP)—Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon says the new Air Force academy to be opened at Colorado Springs plans a big time football schedule, the same as the Navy at Annapolis and Army at West Point.

Harmon, who will be the academy's first superintendent, estimated it would take about six years to have enough students for a team. He was interviewed on ABC-TV's junior press conference program Monday night.

Out In Wichita, Fans Can Own Ball Players

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—How would you like to "own" a baseball player? You can if you live in Wichita. Fact is, five of the 18 players on the Wichita Indians roster were "bought" by the fans.

Layton, for example. He's the playing manager of the Indians, a Class A Western League club. Members of a business club chipped in to buy Layton's contract from Shreveport of the Texas League.

Shortest Fight

Joe Louis won the shortest championship fight in history when he knocked out Max Schmeling, in 1938, after two minutes and four seconds of the first round.

With the 1932 and 1933 world football championships in their possession, the Detroit Lions face the 1934 season with three of their top stars called to the armed services.

Report Landy Raced With Cut On Foot

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Did John Landy, Australia's premier miler, run the "miracle mile" of the British Empire Games here last Saturday with four stitches holding closed a deep cut in his right foot?

Landy, who ran second to Dr. Roger Bannister of England, said Monday night it wasn't so, that it was "utterly silly" for anybody to think he could run under those circumstances.

But Dr. Ken Young of the University of British Columbia health service said a member of his staff doctored a "nasty gash" on the sole of Landy's foot Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Lost By 5 Yards
Joining the "Landy had a bad foot club" were Bannister; Andy O'Brien, sports editor of the Montreal Star; and Jack Sullivan, sports editor of the Canadian Press.

Bannister won the race in 3:58.8, some five yards ahead of Landy, who was timed in 3:59.6.

O'Brien, in a copyrighted article Monday in the Star, said Landy suffered the cut when he stepped from a shower and onto a photographer's flash bulb. The Montreal reporter said Landy told him of the injury but swore him to secrecy "because it would sound like an alibi."

Landy promptly denied O'Brien's report: "There is absolutely nothing to it."

No Pictures Allowed
But the curly-headed Australian refused to let reporters see his feet or to let photographers take pictures of them.

One of Young's assistants, who doctored the cut early Friday, said Landy had four stitches on his right foot, "just in front of the heel." The assistant refused to allow the use of his name.

Sullivan came out with the flat statement that "Landy ran the mile of the century xxx with a cut right foot."

Bannister said Landy told him a week ago of the cut, but "he kept right on training, so it couldn't have been too serious."

Boyle Tours The Badlands

By HAL BOYLE
SCENIC, S. D. (AP)—There is no place in the world where the earth has been tortured into stranger beauty than "The badlands" of South Dakota.
"Hell with the fires out!" exclaimed Gen. Alfred Sully on seeing them in 1864. Later visitors have compared them to the water-land landscape of the moon—or to the portrait of a hanger in technical.
Millions of the tourists each year are awestruck by the weirdly 2,000-foot-high towering shapes carved by wind and ancient rivers over millions of years.

So Boyle Accepts
"But most of them see the badlands only from their automobiles," said my friend, Earl Brockelsby, owner of "The Reptile Gardens," one of the world's greatest snake collections.

"Why don't you let me take you on a tour through them? We'll go where the foot of man never has trod before."
Like a fool I agreed. The party included, besides my host and his victim, two young lady students of paleontology and Warren Morrill, editor of the Rapid City Daily Journal.

Before we reached the picnic site—hobbling from three cactus spikes that had pierced my loafers—I knew I had blundered. The picnic site was a blinding white cradle in a canyon. No shade. Temperature in the sun—probably 110.

Climbed Three Hours
For three hours we climbed crags of dried silt, slid down embankments, crawled through poison ivy beds on hands and knees, inched through canyons too narrow for a gazelle with a new Dior bustle.

Twice Earl stopped and handed me fossil teeth from an Orodont, a sheep-like animal that roamed the area maybe 20 million years ago. I put them in my pocket. Three times I slipped and fell and felt the teeth sinking into me.

"Sabre-toothed tigers used to live here," said Earl. "And there still are a few wildcats around."

Right then I decided I had enough pioneering for a guy who likes nothing better than exploring the bottom of a swivel chair.

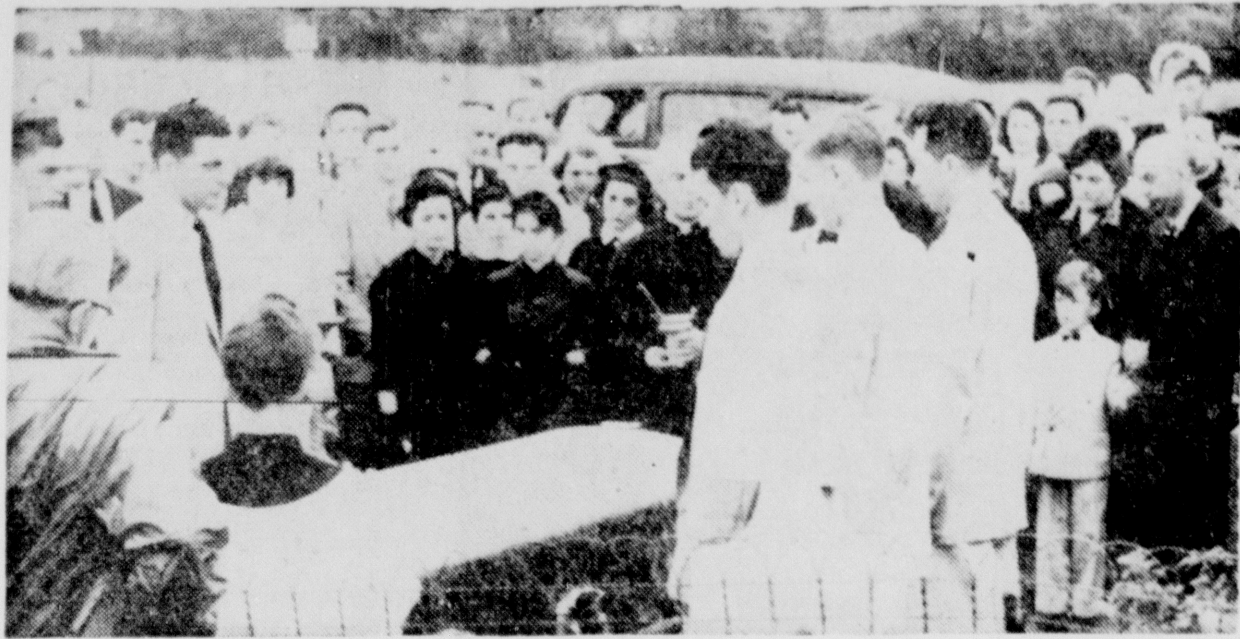

You Can't Win
"Let's go back," I said. "But first show me this place where the foot of man has never trod."
"Right where you're standing," said Earl.

I sat down and traced the outline of my aching feet with a pencil. Then so that future Marco Polos wouldn't have to wonder what strange old fossil had left this mark of his passing, I signed my name.

As I straightened up and we started the long climb to our car, I noticed something scribbled on the canyon wall. It said:
"Kilroy was here."
You can't win.

Council Of Churches Faces Fateful Meeting

Editor's Note—A meeting starting next Sunday in Evanston, Ill., will determine whether centuries-old divisions among Christian religions can be made smaller or must grow still wider. Here is the first of four articles on the assembly of the World Council of Churches, which some churchmen have called the most important religious event since the Reformation.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Most of the world's churches are moving toward a fateful crossroad.

Which way they turn can mean either closer ties or sharper gaps in the centuries-old divisions of Christianity.

The answer hinges on the assembly of the World Council of Churches opening here next Sunday.

"A Critical Test"
"It will be a critical test," said Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, the council's general secretary. "We shall see which is stronger—the force of unity or the force of division."

The meeting will be the most widely representative Christian gathering ever held on the American continent.

In range of subjects, purposes and participation, it may well be the most comprehensive Christian assembly ever called.

All things considered, said Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, head of the United Lutheran Church and vice chairman of the council's central committee, "it is the most crucial interchurch meeting in Christian history."

Fundamental theological questions, buried through the years in the ashes of denominational cleavages and regional aloofness, will be raised in the first such broad attempt to cement Christianity's scattered forces.

1,500 Representatives
"The assembly will deal with subjects that go to the very heart of the faith," Dr. Fry said. "It is a daring thing to do."

"The outcome can determine the lasting strength of the whole movement to bring the churches closer together and increase their effectiveness."

More than 1,500 representatives from 161 denominations with approximately 170 million members in 48 countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain will take part in the meeting.

Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president of Union Theological Seminary and chairman of the council's U. S. study committee, described it this way:

"The most truly ecumenical assemblage of the followers of Christ who have ever met 'in one accord in one place' in the 20 centuries since His life and death and resurrection."

On Common Ground
Although the world council met once previously — at its founding six years ago in Amsterdam—it is digging for the first time into basic and potentially shattering—or consolidating—matters of faith.

Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, the council's American secretary, said he believes that the churches, "Instead of finding themselves far apart will discover that they are on common ground to a far greater extent than they have known."

The council does not seek to become a world church, or even to arrange mergers, viewing that as the task of individual denominations.

But it does seek, said Dr. Visser't Hooft, "to be an instrument of the holy spirit for healing our divisions."

Except for the Roman Catholic, nearly every major church will be represented.

Although Roman Catholic churchmen have attended some previous meetings of world council groups, none will be present at Evanston under a ruling by Samuel Cardinal Stritch of the Chicago archdiocese.

Hawks, Owls Placed On Protected List Beginning Aug. 12

LANSING—Hawks and owls will be protected after Aug. 12 under a law passed during a recent session of the state Legislature, the conservation department emphasizes.

The law reads as follows:
"Any person who shall molest or kill any species of hawk or owl or eagle, or who shall remove or destroy the nest, eggs, or young of any species of hawk or owl or eagle, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished as provided by the laws of this state: Provided, That a farmer or landowner may destroy hawks or owls on the land he owns or occupies which are doing real damage to poultry or other domestic animals."

Conservationists in general regard these bird species as simply a single part of the total wildlife picture, worthy of protection on that alone.

The law, when passed, was slated to take effect 90 days after the Legislature adjourned. The 90-day period expires Aug. 12.

Bee Sting Fatal To Kentucky Man

GREENUP, Ky. (AP)—"This sting is about to kill me," Samuel Jones of nearby Caroline told his brother when stung by a bee about 10 minutes before he died yesterday.

Coroner Louis Wright ruled that death was caused by the bee sting. James Jones, the brother, said they were cutting down a tree when a bee flew up Samuel's sleeve. The two had been looking for wild bee honey.

Wright said the 41-year-old farmer died from anaphylactic shock, brought about by toxin in the blood stream.

Youngster Safe After Accidental Kidnap Experience

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Four-year-old Bruce Parker was safe at home today after an accidental kidnap experience that left him a little hungry and thirsty but otherwise unharmed.

The youngster was found Saturday, still in the car which had been stolen from in front of a supermarket in Allentown, as he lay asleep in the back seat.

Edward Diehl, returning from a hunting trip, discovered the abandoned car on a dirt mountain road three miles east of Lehigh, ending the 37-hour search.

The child's mother, Mrs. Albert Parker, left the car keys in the ignition and police theorized the thief drove off in the car without even noticing the youngster in the back seat.
